Why a cash discount?

Processing credit is expensive for retailers, which is why even companies like Ikea now charge an additional fee for credit card use. We prefer to offer an incentive: pay with a rapid, efficient and secure bank transfer and we'll put the savings back in your pocket.

There is also danger for foreign buyers using credit cards or PayPal: when buying goods from the UK, customers never get the full value of their Euro because of lop-sided – and usually hidden – exchange rates. The solution is not to change the money at all: we now accept payments in Euros at the median rate, and you will be credited with a further cash discount.

If you want to pay in Euros . . .

Check the EUR price on the online product page (updated daily).
